Please be sure to carefully check the section titled "Academic Studies" for more details.
Program	Undergraduate (Bachelor's degree) level Graduate (Master's degree) level
Faculties and Departments	Undergraduate (Bachelor's degree) level: Our university has seven faculties: - Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences - Faculty of Education - Faculty of Informatics - Faculty of Science - Faculty of Engineering - Faculty of Agriculture - Faculty of Global Interdisciplinary Studies and Innovation. Note: Shizuoka University will determine the faculty and academic advisor for each accepted student based on factors such as the student's major, study plan, Japanese language proficiency, and faculty availability.

	Exchange students may take courses offered by faculties other than the one to which they are assigned. Please note that requests to change your academic advisor or assigned faculty cannot be accepted. Graduate (Master's degree) level: You can study in one of the following three graduate schools: the Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences, the Graduate School of Integrated Science and Technology, and the Interfaculty Graduate School of Mountain Watershed. The Graduate School of Integrated Science and Technology offers four majors: Informatics, Science, Engineering, and Agriculture.
Semester	Spring semester : April 1st ~ September 30th Fall semester : October 1st ~ March 31st * Applicants may choose a study period of either one semester (6 months) or two semesters (1 year).
Japanese Language Studies	The Shizuoka University Organization for International Collaboration (SUOIC) offers Japanese language and culture courses for international students, ranging from beginner to advanced levels. The study plan will be determined in consultation with a course coordinator, based on the results of the Japanese placement test. For information about Japanese language study (including some culture-related courses), please refer to the website below. https://www.suoic.shizuoka.ac.jp/international/program/ The Shizuoka University Organization for International Collaboration offers various programs to help international students smoothly adapt to Japanese society. These include Interaction with local residents, homestay programs, and social gatherings with Japanese students.

Academic Studies	Undergraduate level : Most courses are conducted in Japanese. Students need Japanese language proficiency equivalent to JLPT N2 to N1 (CEFR B2 to C1) or higher in order to study their major and keep up with specialized courses. There are very few general education courses offered in English, and these are not specialized courses. Credits earned from these English-taught courses may not be recognized by your home university. Please confirm with your home university before coming to Shizuoka University whether the credits for each course taken here will be accepted. Graduate (Master's degree) level : Details will be provided at the orientation at the beginning of each semester. Some introductory courses will be offered in English. Some lectures in Agriculture, Science, Engineering, and Information Science are conducted in English, while all lectures in Humanities, Social Sciences, and Education are conducted in Japanese. Please confirm with your home university before coming to Shizuoka University whether the credits earned for each course taken at Shizuoka University will be recognized.
